Not the smile! Kim Kardashian made an emergency visit to her dentist after chipping her front tooth on July 22. Poor Kim captured the whole incident on Snapchat — click to watch!

Kim Kardashian, 35, was minding her business, getting ready for a trip to Las Vegas on July 22, where she was supposed to be hosting a party at Hakkasan nightclub. But her plans were almost derailed when she somehow managed to chip her tooth! Kim doesn't reveal how the accident happened in her Snapchat video, though. Did she fall face first? Eat something with tragic consequences? The people want answers, Kim!

She posted her funny video from the dentist's chair, where she was getting ready to have the tooth fixed. "You guys, I'm heading to Vegas, and I chipped my front fking tooth. So I call...911" The man who cheerfully interjects while standing over Kim's shoulder is Dr. Kevin Sands, a Beverly Hills expert in porcelain veneers. It's safe to say that Kim was up and looking hot in no time!

Poor Kim! She Snapchatted a couple other times that same day, posting an adorable video getting kisses from daughter North West, 3, and another pic showing off her hot look for the Vegas trip. You can see that same outfit poking out from under her dental bib. What a day!

Hakkasan is the same nightclub that has Calvin Harris on a $1 million a year residency, but unfortunately, his next gig isn't until August 18. Can you imagine if those two were there at the same time. Forget hosting and DJing; they would have way too much to talk about to get anything else done that night.

HollywoodLifers, are you shocked that Kim managed to chip her perfect pearly whites? Tell us in the comments!
